The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

Space Labs—A New Era

When Shorty Powers was the voice of the astronauts he often prefaced his remarks with an explanation that there is no up or down in space — only out and in.

For some Earthlings who had never viewed the universe through eyes of space explorers, that was a new concept.

Earthlings are what they are and are doing what they did since life came to this planet because of gravity. Gravity is the mysterious glue which holds our universe in balance. It is canceled out by centrifugal force in space as vehicles fall around the Earth. Thus the newer scientific exploration is the concept of zero gravity.

One of the most exciting promises of Zero G is the new technology of containerless manufacturing. Without the pull of gravity, materials need no containers in their liquid phase at zero gravity. All of this is described in length in an intriguing article by A. R. Sorrells in the current issue of N. A. Rockwell's publication SKYLINE.

Everyone knows that gravity is the force that pulls the heavier material to the bottom. It is a force that produces friction in machinery and defects in materials.

At zero gravity it would be possible to grow machines out of materials in liquid state, molecule by molecule, like nature does in producing men, or insects, or trees.

It would be done in that soon-to-be developed area out in the atmosphere — free from the pull of earth's gravity and not in the pull of the gravity of other planets.

In such an environment, says Sorrells, we might enter a world of machines without wheels, pumps, pistons or gears. There would be no need for buildings as we know them, because there would be no storms, no summer and winter and no rain. There would be no need for floors for machinery — just space stations to operate some exotic equipment, much of which is yet to be devised.

Zero gravity is free fall. Free fall process is used on earth to produce shot. Molten metal is passed through a sieve and in free fall it becomes spherical. In space, surface tension causes all liquids to become perfect spheres. So, in space, it is possible to produce hollow ball bearings by injecting gas into a mass of molten metal. In that environment, containerless liquid metals can be formed and shaped by electrical fields to any shape that can be formed on earth.

Another challenging example of the Zero G process is the casting and glass blowing arts. The same process by which ball bearings can be made would also be possible in the manufacture of perfect lenses in space.

Metals can be infused with gas to produce those of high tensile strength that will float on water. This is because buoyancy effects are not present at Zero G and components of different density do no de-mix. Convection currents resulting from irregular heating and cooling patterns caused by gravity are absent in space. This permits a metal to be produced that is much stronger than any now known. Dislocations in the atoms in high quality earth-produced metals range to about a million defects per square centimeter. These dislocations account for the limit of the strength of the metal. Dislocation-free crystals of space-produced metals would yield metals at least 10 times stronger than the strongest alloys known today, it is said.

There are hundreds of other processes envisioned by scientists that will be tried when the first space laboratories are introduced next year — even vaccines.

"Vaccines," says one space scientist, "would grow twice as fast in a Zero G environment as on earth where Hong Kong flu cultures, for example, are grown on a plane surface. In zero gravity there is no such thing as a plane surface, so you would have as much surface as needed to grow a vaccine."

Space colonies are no longer relegated to the implausible yarns of a never-never era. They are on the drawing boards, complete with manufacturing gear that will test the concepts by which Earthlings will enjoy the fruit of a new age.

Great Adventure

The Astronauts will carry a message with them when they blast off Wednesday. It will be signed by President Nixon and the three Astronauts. The note reads:

"Here men from the planet Earth first set foot upon the moon, July, 1969, A.D. We came in peace for all mankind."

The message makes us almost as proud as the Great Adventure they will most certainly successfully complete.

The .10 Per Cent Limit

Before the year is over, motorists will be under the influence of more stringent drinking-driving laws.

Tighter laws are not popular with the drinking gentry who are already under the pressures of highest prices on liquor since prohibition because of higher manufacturing costs, higher alcohol taxes, and higher wages to fat, overpaid bartenders, many of whom prefer to give the drinker smart talk in lieu of service.

The new law would reduce the blood-alcohol concentration from .15 per cent to .10 per cent as the point where the arresting officer will be required to file a presumptive drunk charge.

That means that the drinker can be only two thirds as drunk as he was allowed previously. Above .10 per cent, the long arm of the law can reach the driver.

It has already been tagged "Governor Reagan's tough, new drunk driving law" and you'd think that Jesse Unruh had contrived it to interrupt the rapport the governor has with California toppers. The political damage would be considerable because of the ratio of California drinkers to any other group. However, it was Assemblyman Craig Biddle, a Republican of Riverside, who authored the bill.

He did it because the highway danger from drunk drivers is growing and the court's disciplinary attitude is weakening. And the ranks of drinking drivers are growing fantastically!

Proof of this fact is found in the alcoholic tax figures. More than $123 million will be poured into state coffers this year by the alcohol tax alone.

It takes a heap of humans to drink up enough booze to OLD FASHIONED FOURTH — Lemon Grove residents flocked by the hundreds to picnic in the park last Friday, as the Old Time Days Assn. invited them to enjoy hotdogs and sunshine in the old-fashioned spirit of the holiday. Area residents responded in big numbers to roast wienies, play baseball, enjoy a flag-raising ceremony and get a tan.

Burglars Active In Area

Three apparent robberies of moderate value were reported in the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area last week, according to the County Sheriff's office.

Hyde Industries, 7852 North ave. in Lemon Grove reported a missing air compressor and tank worth an estimated $140. The compressor turned up missing between the afternoon of June 27 and the morning of June 30, according to reports.

Dorothy H. Shannon, 2707 Sweetwater rd., Spring Valley, reported a wallet containing approximately $155 turned up missing from her car while she shopped at DeFalco's July 1.

Norman Barry Howarth, 605 Parkbrook st., Spring Valley, reported that the bucket seats were missing from the front of his Volkswagen sedan. The car was parked in front of his house overnight, July 1, and he reported the loss the next morning.

Summer Dances At Miguel

Looking for a new and different spot to go on Friday nights? Try the boss gathering out on Sweetwater road—at Mt. Miguel High School, to be exact.

Each Friday night during the summer — 8 to 11 p.m. — the Miguel gym will be filled with out-of-sight music and dancing. Why not join the crowd? Cost is $1 per person.

Music is provided by The Amber Soul. These weekly dances, conducted by the Recreational Department, will continue until August 22.

School Trustee Warren Buckner Wins Prexy's Seat 3rd Time

The Lemon Grove School Board of Trustees concluded its "meetingest" period this week with two meetings in one night.

It had just finished budget meetings two weeks in a row. Monday's twin meets are regularly scheduled each year. The first meeting is organizational. During this one Warren Buckner was elected president of the board, succeeding Bert Cosby. It was Buckner's third trip to the presidential chair. Attorney Robert Sjogren was elected vice president and Lyle Stumbaugh, clerk. Byron Netzey, District Superintendent, is, as usual, this year's secretary.

The organizational section scheduled board meetings for the 1969-70 school year and set Sept. 15 as school opening day and closing day as June 18, 1970.

The Board then adjourned and re-opened as a new Board. One of the first actions was to accept the resignation of Mrs. Lois Ritchie, a teacher who has spent 27 years with the District.

Netzey recalled after the meeting how Mrs. Ritchie had come to the District to teach second grade at the former VFW Hall. She was teaching second grade at Monterey Heights when she resigned. "She is a good teacher," Netzey said.

The new Board learned that trash collection costs will rise as a result of new air-pollution regulations. A third of the trash previously burned will now have to be carried. This, presumably, will raise the cost 50 per cent.

Trustees responded to a request to put Palm Junior High school in an Underground Utilities District as they did to a previous request regarding a Lighting District. The Board favors both types of districts. But Palm's utilities are already underground.

There will be no meetings until Aug. 4 when the budget will get another hearing. It was adopted at the June 30 meeting. No one knows why a hearing comes after the budget adoption but it is a part of school finance policies.

Four local Kiwanians are in Miami attending the 54th Annual Convention of Kiwanis International.

Attending the affair were Spring Valley Fire Chief G. Frank Berger, who is Lt. Gov. of District 31 and a member of the Spring Valley Kiwanis club.

From the Lemon Grove club were Gary Conrad, Jerry T. Walter and Jim Terry and their wives.

More than 20,000 Kiwanians and their families were on hand for the affair.

There are 275,000 Kiwanians in 5,600 clubs in the U. S., Canada, Mexico, the Caribbean, Western Europe, the Far East, Central and South America, Australia and New Zealand.

Convention features included a dramatic opening in pageant form: a colorful "Presentation of the Flags of Kiwanis Nations"; a President's Reception and Ball; a two-hour professional show featuring the Osmond Brothers, Roger Ray; a special program for the ladies; programs for the youngsters; and a score of district banquets.

members of the Council, Edward Goodbody and Pete Hungerford, met with Disposal contractors last week to arrange the free pick-up.

Present were Ralph Morgan and Ed Woods of Dependable Disposal; Frank Thomas of Thomas Disposal; Bud Chase of Sani-Tainer Disposal; Richard Thorpe, San Diego County Sanitation Supervisor; Dick Chase, President of the San Diego County Disposal Assn. and B. Pay Hikes Granted By LMSV Trustees

Raises for the top four La Mesa-Spring Valley School District administrators were approved at Monday night's Board of Trustees meeting.

The trustees set August 4 as the date of the public hearing on the district's 1969-70 budget.

The raises amount to $9,400 for Supt. Glenn Murdock and three assistants.

The administrators will be paid on a ratio scale, with the scale beginning at the top teacher's salary in the district, $13,800.

Thus, Murdock will be paid at a ratio of 1.69, or $28,801, assistant associate superintendent Dave Pascoe 1.33 or $23,120, and assistant superintendents Dale Hobson and Tom Vandruuff 1.28 or $22,252.

During the annual organizational meeting held in conjunction with the regularly scheduled meeting, board members also elected Christian Krog president of the board.

Krog succeeds Hardy Kuykendall, who did not run for re-election in April. Edward Nielson was elected vice president of the board while Peter Doyle was named clerk.

Free Textbooks At L.G. School

More than 1,500 obsolete elementary school textbooks will be up for grabs next week at the Lemon Grove Junior High school.

More than 160 different titles will be available. The books have been used in kindergarten to the eighth grade, and are fine for supplemental reading at home.

The books have an average value of $2 a copy but are free to those who want them on a first come, first serve basis.

All the books have been replaced by up dated editions. Byron Netzey, L.G. Elementary School District superintendent said. Previously, such books were destroyed. Monday night school trustees agreed to ascertain whether there was any demand for the textbooks.

They will be available in Room 19 Monday through Friday, 1-5.

Contributions Made For July 4 Fireworks Display

Three Lemon Grove organizations contributed to the La Mesa Chamber of Commerce sponsored fireworks displays on the Fourth of July.

They are the L.G. Moose Lodge; the Woman's Club Juniors and the L.G. Kiwanis club. In all they supplied $60 toward the $2,000 cost. The fund is still $800 short, according to Jim Culver, chamber manager.

The display was on the hill-top north of St. John of the Cross Catholic church and could be viewed by residents of Spring Valley and Lemon Grove, as well as those of La Mesa.

A larger display is already being planned for next year in which all three communities will be asked to participate, Culver said.

RE-ENACTMENT

Trek To Cross Marks SD's 200th

El Hidalgo de San Diego, the official ambassador of the San Diego 200th Anniversary, will serve as marshal of the 14th annual Trek to Serra Cross Wednesday.

The trek, part of the 200th Anniversary Historical Days celebration July 1-16, will reenact the dedication by Father Junipero Serra of Mission San Diego de Alcala, marking the birth of California in San Diego on July 16, 1769.

The trek procession will form at 10 a.m. at the corner of San Diego avenue and Conde street. It is expected to arrive at Serra Cross in Presidio Park at 11 a.m.

Leading the five trek divisions will be the 200th Anniversary division, headed by El Hidalgo, and including the San Diego Squibob Chapter of E. Clampus Vitus, Ozzie's 200th Anniversary Band and flower girls from the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Division two, the military division, will include a United States Marine Corps color guard and Marine banders carrying the 12 flags that have flown over California since 1542.

They are the flags of Old Spain, England, Imperial Russia, the Spanish Nationals, Russian-American house, Buenos Aires, the Mexican Empire, the Mexican tricolor, General Fremont, the United States and California.

Dignitaries who will march in division three will include city, county and religious officials; the delegation of 25 visitors from Mallorca, Spain, the island birthplace of Fr. Serra, as well as the U. S. Naval Training Center band and sailors wearing old costumes of the U. S. Navy.

Division four, for costumed groups or individuals, will include representatives of the cottages of the House of Pacific Relations and the San Diego Junior Bagpipe Band. The final division, Fr. Serra's contingent, will be made up of the Indian dancers from St. John's Indian School in La-veen, Ariz.; Rincon and Pala Mission Indians, leather jacket soldiers and animals.

The ceremony at the cross will include the invocation by Deacon Brazee Hawkins of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, introduction of special guests by James J. Noel, chairman of the trek committee, and a tableau reenacting the dedication of Mission de Alcala.

The program will also include a performance of tribal dances by the St. John's Indian School dancers, and the blessing of 9 palm trees, representing the 9 California missions established by Fr. Serra.

The blessing of the palms and the benediction will be given by the Most Rev. Francis Furey, bishop of the Catholic Diocese of San Diego.

Free bus service will be provided the public between the Plaza Rosa at Fiesta 200 and Presidio Park before and after the program at Serra Cross.

A six-foot high San Diego 200th Anniversary birthday cake will be cut at 2 p.m. in the Plaza Rosa.

At 2:30 p.m. in the Plaza Rosa, Robert Labrador and his flamenco dancers will perform and at 3 p.m. a performance will be staged by the dance group of Josephine Romero.

CoC Meeting Date Changed

The Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce will hold its future meetings on the last Tuesday of the month instead of the first Tuesday, it was decided at the July meeting.

President Frank Shughrie said the change was designed to encourage better attendance.

He set the August meeting as a breakfast meeting — the place to be announced later.

Always and Everywhere

Let no one imagine that it is a strained and unnatural thing for one to pray. The contrary is much closer to the fact. It is far more unnatural for one not to pray. Prayer is one of the most natural of human instincts. Prayer is man's response to the divine will.

LG United Methodist Reschedules Service

The Lemon Grove United Methodist Church, located at 3205 Washington st., has changed the time of the worship service and church school for the summer months, in an effort to provide church families with more time on Sundays for family outings.

The church school, offering classes from nursery through sixth grade, will meet concurrently with the worship service, from 9:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. Infant care is also provided.

Church school lessons are prepared and presented urging children to see the relevance of Christianity in today's complex world. The kindergarten and Grades 1-2 are encountering the many ways in which God cares for all people.

The United Methodist missionary projects is the topic of study for the Grade 3-4 class, and Grade 5-6 are studying how to be a follower of the way.

There are no classes scheduled this summer for the 7th Grade and above; these young people are urged to attend the regular morning worship service.

vice and meet with the Youth Fellowship groups on Sunday evenings.

The Junior High (Grades 7-8), Mid-High (Grades 9-10) and Senior High (Grades 11-12) meet each Sunday evening at 6:00. The College Age meet Sunday evenings at 7:30.

These very active young people plan to participate in a Youth Ministry Camp at the Lazy W from August 17-23. The theme of the Camp will be Black-White Encounter and promises to be an enriching, enlightening experience in the lives of those who attend. A caravan to Havasupai Canyon in Arizona is also planned for early September.

All persons interested in sharing our worship experience with us are invited to attend.

Last year in the U. S. farmers received only 39¢ out of each dollar spent for food. It was an increase of one cent over 1967. Overall, costs at the store for farm foods rose 14% during the 1960's according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Lutheran Women Hear Crisis Issues

Nearly 10,000 women of The American Lutheran Church returned to their homes, communities and churches in all parts of the U. S. this week following a convention in Minneapolis June 26-29, in which they were exposed to the sawtooth, cutting edge of the world's crisis issues.

In a concluding worship Dr. Fredrik A. Schioft, ALC president, assured the assembly that "God's face is turned toward you as you strive to carry out the will of Christ wherever you are."

The convention heard major presentations on the ravages of war, the malignancy of racism in the church, the blight of poverty both in America and in other parts of the world, and it applauded a formula for world peace which calls for accommodation of American foreign policy with the reality of communism and the strength of the Soviet Union.

By coincidence the convention of American Lutheran Church Women was held one city block distant from week-long sessions of ALC officials, meeting in Central Lutheran Church both as Church Council and Joint Council, where many hours of deliberation went into consideration of "black power" demands upon the Church.

Assurances reaching ALCW sessions that the ALC was not capitulating to radical demands of the James Forman "Black Manifesto" brought relief and gratification to many who had received erroneous reports from their home communities on the subject.

The confusion, which was widespread throughout the country, resulted from inaccurate publicity emanating from a meeting one week earlier of the Conference on Inner City Ministries (known as CICM). The CICM conference was an unofficial gathering arranged by the ALC's Board of American Missions to hear about needs and concerns of congregations suffering from inner city blight.

Tickets Here For Famed Mormon Choir

When the Mormon Tabernacle Choir appears at San Diego Stadium at 8 p.m. July 18, it will be the world renowned group's third San Diego appearance — and tickets will be available locally.

The 375-voice choir sang here in 1926 and again in 1955, at the California-Pacific International Exposition.

Sponsored jointly by the 200th Anniversary, Inc., and The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormon), the Choir's visit entails considerable participation by local Church members.

Among those assisting with preparations are Lemon Grove and Spring Valley area representatives of the 20,000 members of the San Diego Mormon community. Mrs. Billy Casper, co-chairman, said.

Mrs. George R. Bascom, violinist, is one of the hostesses assisting the Choir as it visits San Diego points of interest. Lawrence N. Nelson is assisting with special arrangements.

The famed choral group began its 1969 tour by singing at Pres. Nixon's inauguration. Highlights of their 1968 season were appearances at HemisFair '68 at Mexico City and a SRO appearance at Dallas.

Local representatives are predicting a crowd of 35,000 for the San Diego appearance. Tickets will be available in Spring Valley at the S.V. Shopping Center parking lot near Sav-On Drug store. In Lemon Grove there will be a booth outside Thrifty Drug Store at Imperial near Golden.

Though stadium technicians rate acoustics at the Stadium "good" for this type of performance, the Choir has its own complement of traveling technicians to insure optimum sound conditions.

Learn Spanish the Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

by James Hardison

What are the meal names in Spanish? Are there three principal meals in most Spanish-speaking countries?

The morning meal is "el desayuno" (breakfast). The noon meal is "el almuerzo" (lunch) and the evening meal is "la cena" (dinner). There are three principal meals in most Spanish-speaking countries, however, the noon meal is usually taken between two and four o'clock in the afternoon.

Interestingly enough, each of the names for meals may be converted to a verb form. "El desayuno" (breakfast) may be changed to "desayunar" (to eat breakfast). "El almuerzo" (lunch) may be changed to "almorzar" (to eat lunch) and "la cena" may be changed to "la cenar" (to dine).

Construction of first person phrases which use these verbs is quite simple: "Yo desayuno tarde." (I breakfast late). "Yo almuerzo en la oficina." (I eat lunch in the office). "Yo cenó en la casa." (I dine at home).

Third person phrases require the verbs to be in "a." Examples are seen in "Ella desayuna." (She eats breakfast). "El no almuerza." (He does not eat lunch). "Yo cenó en la casa." (I dine at home).

Practice phrases for today contain words about the principal meals. You may wish to say them with the recorded voice that may be heard when you dial 276-2762. The recorded voice will say each word and phrase separately and pause long enough for you to say the same words and phrases.

IMPORTANT PHRASES

Say "Desayuna usted temprano?" (deh-sah-YO U nah oo-STEHD teh-m PRAH-noh) for "Do you breakfast early?"
Say "No, desayuna tarde." (noh deh-sah-YO U nah o h TAHR-deh) for "No, I breakfast late."

USEFUL PHRASES

Say "¿Dónde almuerza usted?" (DOHN-deh ahl-moo-EHR-sah oo-STEHD) for "Where do you lunch?"
Say "Yo almuerzo en casa." (yoh ahl-moo-EHR-shoh eh-n KAH-sah) for "I lunch at home."

Cal Arts To Discuss Symphony

Lowell Davies, Chairman of the California Arts Commission, last week, extended a general invitation to the public to attend the first California State Assembly of Symphony Orchestras, to be held at Asilomar on the Monterey Peninsula, July 10-12.

The conference, co-sponsored by the California Arts Commission and the American Symphony Orchestra League, is the first occasion on which orchestra representatives from all parts of the State have had the opportunity to meet for discussion of artistic and operational problems.

The program, directed by Mrs. Helen Thompson, Executive Secretary, American Symphony Orchestra League, and Mrs. Sue McDonald, California Arts Commission, has been arranged in response to the needs of the orchestras as expressed in the replies to a questionnaire distributed in April.

Major subjects to be discussed are financing an orchestra, recruitment of playing personnel, audience-building and the responsibilities of boards of directors. Panelists will include members of orchestra associations, boards of directors, managers and conductors.

Norman Mennes, Director of Los Angeles City College, Theatre Department, which recently won honors in college play production, will direct a special session on graphics and their application to performing arts publications and promotional materials.

The California Arts Commission, the Monterey County Symphony and the Coordinating Council of the Monterey Peninsula will co-sponsor a reception on July 11 for the Assembly and special guests. Mrs. Robert Stanton, California Arts Commission member from Carmel, is chairman of arrangements.

The final session of the conference will be devoted to discussion of the possibility of forming an association for the ninety symphony orchestras providing symphonic music for the State.

Reservations and additional program details may be obtained from the Performing Arts Coordinator, California Arts Commission, 1108-14th st., Sacramento, California 95814.

Jobs Open On C.H.P.

"Young men who want action and have the ability to keep cool when others become confused, who want a fast-paced job with variety and are ambitious could well look toward the California Highway Patrol for their career."

This comment was made by V. J. Herz, Commander of the California Highway Patrol's San Diego Area, in announcing that another examination for State Traffic Officer has been scheduled for August 16.

"A California Highway Patrolman's job is a demanding one that requires, among other things, a mature and clear thinking mind," Captain Herz added. "The Patrol offers this kind of man good pay and an excellent future, if he meets all of our requirements and successfully passes the written and oral examinations."

Basic requirements include age between 20 and 31 years, height between 5 feet 9 inches and 6 feet 6 inches, a high school diploma or the equivalent, and good health.

"Applications for the test must be filed by Friday, July 25," the commander said. "Application forms may be obtained at any Highway Patrol, State Employment Service, Department of Motor Vehicles, or State Personnel Board office."

Zoo Attracts Record 3 Millionth Visitor

The three millionth visitor of fiscal year 1968/69 entered the San Diego Zoo last week.

Zoological Society vice president Sheldon Campbell said it was the first time in the zoo's 53-year history that the three million mark had been reached.

"It was close, but we made it on the last day of the fiscal year, thanks to a perfect sunny weekend," Campbell said. "We needed 10,000 today — and drew over 11,000." He noted that extremely poor weather in February kept the zoo from reaching the elusive three million attendance figure earlier.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — It's been 3 months since I filed and my refund still hasn't come. What should I do?

A — Write your regional IRS service center or telephone your local IRS office. Be sure to give your Social Security number, name, address, and when your return was filed. This information is needed to trace your return. Most refund claims have already been processed and the checks mailed out.

Q — The agent examining my return wouldn't allow all the contributions I'd claimed. Is there anybody else at IRS I can talk to about this?

A — You may request a district conference to discuss the disallowed deductions. Procedures for doing this are explained on the notice you receive explaining the adjustment.

This conference will provide you with an independent review of the items questioned. Legal counsel is not needed but you may bring someone to represent you if you wish. In a district conference the taxpayer meets with an experienced conferee, who is not associated with audit group that examined his return.

Q — I just reached 65. Can I have my tax withholding reduced?

A — Yes, persons 65 and over may claim an additional exemption for income tax withholding purposes. To do this, fill out a new Form W-4, Employees Withholding Exemption Certificate, and give it to your employer.

Q — My house has gone up in value in the 15 years I've owned it. Will I be taxed on this increase when I sell?

A — Profits on the sale of a home are taxable. There are situations, however, where the tax may be postponed or even eliminated.

A person who buys another house within a year of the sale of his old home may be able to postpone the tax depending on how much the new one costs. Under certain conditions the postponement provision may also apply if a new home is constructed.

There is no tax on the profit of a home sale for those 65 years of age and over when certain conditions are met.

For details on these provisions, send a post card to your IRS district office and ask for Publication 523, Tax Information on Selling Your Home.

Q — Is any tax deduction allowed for expenses connected with duty in the military reserve?

A — The cost of your uniforms in excess of clothing allowance and their care and maintenance are deductible. Travel costs to evening reserve meetings are not deductible unless you worked at your regular job the day of the meeting.

Then you can deduct cost of a direct one-way trip from your job to the meeting, even though you may go home for dinner first.

Q — We are having a teenager stay with us this summer. Can we claim him as a dependent?

A — If he will be with you for just the summer no dependency exemption may be taken. To qualify as a dependent, a person not related to you must be a member of your household and live with you the entire year, in addition to meeting the other tests.

Q — When is a student taxed on what he makes working summers?

A — When earnings for the year reach $600, a return must be filed. However, with the taxpayer's personal exemption and the minimum standard reduction, there will be no tax to pay until income reaches $900.

Don't forget that if tax is withheld from your earnings, a return must be filed to obtain any refund that may be due.

Q — Do summer employees have to be included in a self-employed retirement plan?

A — No, part-time and summer employees may usually be excluded from these plans.

Details on these plans are contained in IRS Publication 560, "Retirement Plans for Self-Employed Individuals." Send a post card to your IRS district office to obtain a free copy.

Co-sponsors of the event were the PTAs of Bancroft, Casa de Oro, Highlands, Spring Valley Elementary and Spring Valley Junior High schools.

Coordinating the event were Spencer Church, summer assistant at Spring Valley Junior High, and Mrs. M. E. Sawyers, Spring Valley Junior High PTA president.

One of the scents, according to Robert Davis, director of the LM-SV summer session, was Kelly Hinman, principal of Church Rock School, and brother of Eddie Hinman, principal of Bancroft School in Spring Valley.

Davis said the Navajo children are participating in a 17-day visit to the cities, beaches, industries and scenic attractions of the Pacific Southwest. The program is Elementary and Secondary Education Act-financed and is designed to provide enrichment opportunities for the children through a variety of language experience.

Through visitation, firsthand experiences and contact with a 24-hour staff, children will gain in knowledge, learn correct behavior, respect, for themselves, and build a balanced and meaningful language.

They are traveling in a bus designed as a mobile classroom for work and study.

In a survey of 194 fifth- and sixth-grade children at Church Rock School, Davis said, it was found that only Navajo is spoken in 77% of their homes. Two-thirds of the youngsters have never traveled more than 50 miles from their homes and most are overage.

Saito Displays Prints, Paints At Balboa Fine Arts

Prints and paintings by Ki-yoshi Saito will be on view at the Fine Arts Gallery of San Diego, Balboa Park, July 12 through August 24.

The show was organized by the Gallery Murakami Ltd., Tokyo, and is being sponsored in San Diego by the Asiatic Arts Committee.

Saito was born in 1907. He held his first one-man show of wood-block prints in Japan in 1942, and in the United States at the Corcoran Gallery of Art, Washington, D.C., in 1957.

In 1951, the artist was the recipient of an award at the International Biennial Exhibition at Sao Paulo, Brazil. He has exhibited extensively in the United States, Australia, Africa, South America and Yugoslavia as well as Japan. Of his work Oliver Statler writes:

"There are in his work other constants which make it unmistakably his. There are tangibles: strong earth colors, bold forms, unique stylization. And there are intangibles: a mood that permeates almost every print, a tension that makes each as taut and alive as the curve of a drawn bow."

"Most of Saito's human figures are haunted by loneliness, but he can convey the tenderness of parental love. His nudes are not soft and satinn-skinned; they pulse with life."

"His Buddhist forms are distillations of compassion or serenity. He can evoke the essence of a Tokyo bar, of the chill Kyoto winter, of lush Tahiti, (and how good it is to know that this artist, who has so admired Gauguin, has been able to see with his own eyes Gauguin's islands)."

The Fine Arts Gallery is open to the public free of charge Tuesday through Saturday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Sunday 12:30 to 5 p.m. It is closed Monday and special holidays.

Moon Program On Channel 15

The moon journey of Apollo 11 may turn out to be a trip to the very beginning of time as well as a giant step into the future.

Dr. Harold Urey, the Nobel Prize-winning nuclear chemist, believes that debris brought back from the moon may reveal some secrets about the origin of the universe — a question man has been pondering for centuries.

In "Harold Urey: The Man and the Moon," Dr. Urey talks about his years of lunar research and how some hypotheses he has held for 20 years will be tested by Apollo 11.

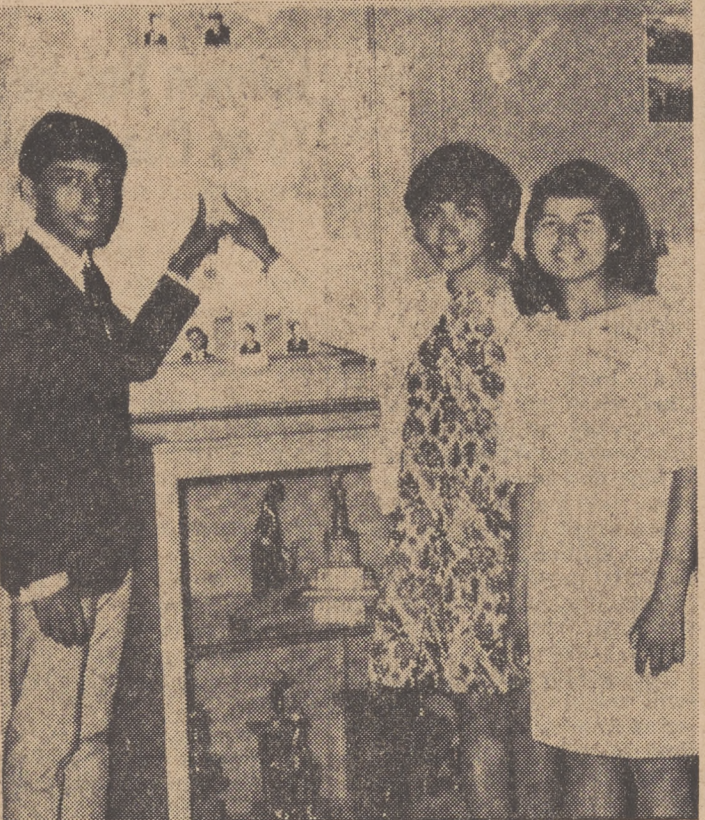

The program, produced by KEST-TV, San Diego, for 150 public television stations, will be broadcast in color at 7 p.m. Friday, on Channel 15.

Dr. Urey, 75, is one of the principal investigators in the Lunar Samples Project of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. He and other prominent scientists will examine moon rocks and soil following completion of the Apollo 11 mission.

Richard Bergman Heads LG Hams

Richard M. Bergman, 8352 Robbie way, Lemon Grove, California 92045 has been selected to lead an organization of Lemon Grove amateur radio operators prepared to furnish organized emergency communications in time of disasters, it was announced by Communications Manager George Hart of the American Radio Relay League, U. S. and Canadian association of radio amateurs.

Bergman's assignment, which carries the title of Emergency Coordinator of the Amateur Radio Emergency Corps, is to band together members of the amateur radio service in his community to perfect arrangements for emergency radio communication by hams in the event of natural disasters or other emergencies.

In addition to use of fixed radio station equipment working from commercial power, amateur stations use self-powered radio transmitting and receiving equipment as needed and can often deploy portable and mobile units to accommodate a particular emergency requirement.

Bergman as ARRL Emergency Coordinator, will call local meetings of amateurs, establish common operating procedures, and arrange regular drill periods when the hams' personal stations may be mobilized under simulated emergency conditions.

His duties also include liaison planning with relief and public welfare agencies, as suggested in working understandings the ARRL Amateur Radio Emergency Corps has with the Red Cross, Civil Defense, and other agencies.

Liaison will be established also with local protective services, such as fire and police departments.

Motorbike, Car Collide; Jamul Youth Injured

By MARY BONNER

A 12 year old Jamul youth narrowly escaped death June 27 in Jamul as his small motorbike skidded into the path of an oncoming car.

The victim, Perry Hemmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Hemmer, was reported to have been coming down a driveway on Lyons Valley road that was blinded from the road when he, not seeing the car until it was too late, collided into the right fender.

The driver, 16 year old Garold Schnell, son of Mrs. P. Schnell, also of Jamul, reportedly did not see the boy until he had hit him.

Hemmer was rushed to El Cajon Valley Hospital where he was treated for fractures on both legs and on his right wrist. He sustained two compound fractures on his right leg with a fracture above the knee on the same leg. On his left leg he had a fracture below the knee and his right wrist was broken in one place.

His condition as reported by his mother is "improved as much as it could be at this point," and he should be returning to his home in anywhere from three to six weeks. However, it will be another six months to a year before he will be able to start walking again, according to doctors.

Mrs. Hemmer extended the family's appreciation to people who have helped saying, "We would like to thank the community of Jamul for all their kindness, help and prayers in this time of family worry."

Cannizzaro Ignorant? No, Dumb--Like A Fox

The equipment worn by a baseball backstop is sometimes called "the tools of ignorance."

The implication is, of course, that one is not showing good sense when he enters the game and chooses a career as a catcher.

The point is well taken in many ways. A catcher spends his afternoons and evenings getting smashed in various parts of his body with foul tips, ticked in the head with swinging bats and run over by guys lumbering at full speed from third base.

The hands of a catcher also are subjected to more than a subtle beating. A catcher can rarely determine the number of times he has broken bones in his hands, mainly because he no longer has fingers on which to count.

It goes without saying physical stamina is a requirement of the trade. A weakling could hardly stand to wear the tools of ignorance and operate for nine innings under the boiling sun, of say, Cincinnati in mid-July.

Still, a catcher needs more than a sturdy back. He must also be endowed with a strong mind.

It is the catcher who must know the hitters of the opposite side. The catcher "reads" the batsmen for his pitcher and calls the pitches. The catcher handles his pitcher and steadies him in times of physical and mental distress.

In short, the catcher on a baseball team can be compared with both the quarterback in football and the goalie in ice hockey.

Christopher John Cannizzaro is a catcher with the San Diego Padres. He has been around and he is established. He has worn the tools of ignorance professionally since 1956 and besides the minor leagues, has made major league stops with the New York Mets, St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates before coming to the Padres in a trade with the Pirates last spring.

Cannizzaro has always been a catcher. What's more, he never considered any other position.

"I was 11 years old when I started," Chris says, "and I guess I didn't know any better."

"Actually, my uncle started me as a catcher. He said I was too slow to play anywhere else."

Cannizzaro can run, but not fast. As a result he never leads his team in stolen bases, just hard work.

Cannizzaro has been the workhorse of the Padres up to this particular stage of the gallop. He has been behind the plate for nearly every Padre game except for a brief period when he was sidelined with a case of the hives. His entire body resembled a plate of raw hamburger.

"They say hives can be a nervous condition brought on by worrying," Chris says, "but mine were caused by a reaction to a shot the doctor gave me."

"Besides, what have I got to worry about? I'm playing regularly with a great bunch of guys and I'm living in a beautiful city. Things are going pretty good at the moment."

Prior to the trade with the Pirates Cannizzaro was touted as a good receiver with little talent as a batsman. Chris, however, has been a pleasant surprise at the plate. As this is written he is hitting .243 and many of his hits have been of the clutch variety.

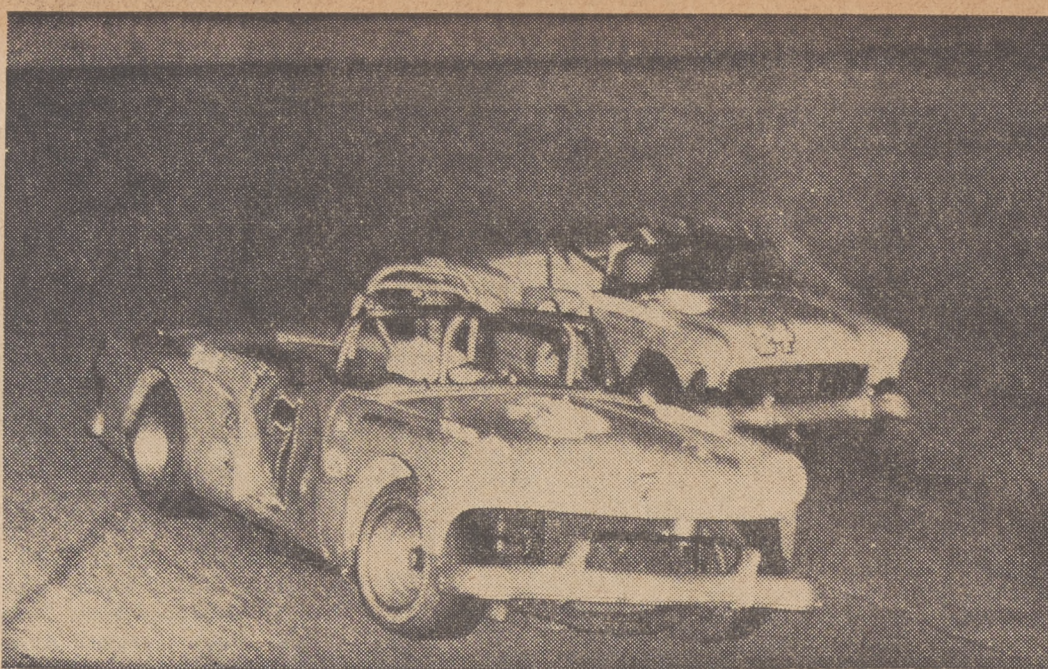

That part about him being a good receiver has been proven several times over. Chris has been remarkable working with young Padre pitchers.

Says 21-year-old hurler Al Santorini, "If I make it in the major leagues, Chris will have a lot to do with it. He has been just great. I haven't pitched to very many guys but as far as I'm concerned, Chris is the best in the business."

Cannizzaro also thrills fans at San Diego with a maneuver he practices with near perfection. That would be the snap throw to first base with a runner on. Cannizzaro does not always pick them off but he keeps them honest and close to the bag which cuts down their effectiveness as base runners and enhance the home side's chances to make double plays.

Sure, they make jokes about catchers and they call the equipment tools of ignorance, but the Padres are happy to have them worn by the likes of Chris Cannizzaro.

'Meanies' On Card For Arena Wrestling

Wrestlers come to the International Sports Arena July 22 when The Sheik flies from the East to take on another meanie — Mr. Moto.

The Sheik enters the ring with long flowing robes and a prayer rug. He prays to Allah for victory before every match. It pays off because he has won 98 per cent of his matches. His losses have been referee's disqualifications.

The Sheik claims to be from Syria and speaks no English. His manager, known in wrestling circles as the Weasel, speaks for him.

The Sheik - Moto meeting is billed as a grudge fight. Moto, with a long-time record in the ring earned a reputation for his ring cruelty. The Sheik has been suspended in New York for tactics that nearly caused a near-riot in Madison Square during a wrestling card.

One of his tricks is to toss a ball of fire at his opponent from a device he hides in his trunks.

He is also noted for having grabbed a reporter's notebook and chewing it up.

The Midget Girls will also be on the card of wrestling.

Monarch Hoopsters, 'Nine' Still Alive

The Monte Vista sports season is still in progress as the Monarchs are currently represented with squads in baseball and basketball.

In baseball, the Monarchs are currently 6-4 and will be concluding their summer schedule this week.

The Monarchs picked up two wins but dropped one in last week's action.

Steve Mays threw a 2-0 shutout over Mar Vista on Monday and Paul Loop followed with another 2-0 gem over Ocean side on Wednesday.

The Monarchs were then dumped by Clairemont, 12-7, in a game that saw the Monarchs beat three home runs in the losing cause.

Tony Harper, Ed Sullivan, and Steve Campbell all hit roundtrippers for Monte Vista. Jess Bowers, sidelined with a sore arm, is leading the team at the plate with a .366 average. Jeff Mann follows with a .350 average with nine RBI's.

In basketball, the Monarchs are 3-1 and are riding on a modest three-game winning streak.

After dropping their first game to Hoover, the Monarchs have beaten Patrick Henry, San Diego, and Grossmont.

Gary Earle had his best game of the summer last week against the San Diego Cavesmen as the Monarchs won handily, 71-52.

Carl Stucky and Jim Bristol then got together and led the Monarchs to a 75-71 conquest over the Grossmont Footballers.

Bristol hit his high with 27 points while Stucky came off the bench to have his best all-around game.

Felix Rogers coaches the team which is made up mostly of Varsity members with a few highly-rated Jayvee players.

NCAA Names SDS To University Rank

San Diego State is going big time.

The Aztecs, regarded as a "small-college" power in football the last few years (a though having an enrollment of better than 23000) has been granted university status in all sports by the NCAA.

The criteria for grading the schools is the football schedule. A school must play at least five games against other schools regarded as university division before the NCAA recognizes it as such.

The Aztecs have exactly five such large schools or their state this year, including University of Pacific, another newly-appointed school.

The decision means the Aztecs, national college football champions the last three years, will now be bucking the national powers such as Notre Dame, USC and Ohio State for national rankings and prestige.

In other sports, the decision will mean the basketballers, cross-country team, wrestlers and all other teams that can advance, by team or individual, in post-season competition, will now do so in large school ranks.

Some talented Aztecs were already permitted to do this track star Wes Williams for example, but had to qualify first in a small-school NCAA competition.

Gillman Notches 10 as Coach/GM

Sid Gillman begins his 25th year as a head football coach Friday when the 1969 San Diego Chargers open their new summer training camp at the University of California at Irvine.

Inaugurating his 10th year as coach and general manager of the Chargers, Gillman will welcome 48 players for "Rookie Week." Most veterans are scheduled to report on Friday, July 18.

"This is going to be an excellent training camp," announced Gillman. "The facilities are outstanding, the talent is good and the spirit is willing."

Answering Friday's first roll call at noon will be a composite of highly-regarded drafted rookies, shot-in-the-dark free agents, 1968 Taxi Squad returnees and a handful of veterans.

The list includes two players traded to San Diego during the off-season — linebacker Pete Barnes from Houston and cornerback Mack Lamb from Miami, and two Canadian League returnees — guard Bill Frank and cornerback Dave Plump.

Heading the rookie contingent are San Diego's two No. 1 draft choices — quarterback Marty Domres from Columbia and linebacker Bob Babich from Miami of Ohio. Babich will stay only briefly before reporting to Chicago to join the College All-Stars for their game against the pro football champion New York Jets on Aug. 1.

The Chargers have a third No. 1 draft choice, who figures importantly in pre-season plans. He is cornerback Jim Hill, a No. 1 in 1968, who was sidelined last season because of a knee injury.

The Chargers will be encamped at UC Irvine through August while commuting to San Diego for other "Super-200" pre-season home games against the New Orleans Saints, Aug. 9; Oakland Raiders, Aug. 16; Cleveland Browns, Aug. 23, and Los Angeles Rams, Aug. 30. All are Saturday night games.

McMahon, 40, will begin his third season as head coach of the Rockets and seventh as an NBA mentor.

In announcing McMahon's signing, general manager Pete Newell said, "Jack did a great job bringing our young Rockets into the playoffs last season. With the continuing improvement of our young players, we feel sure we will be able to climb higher this coming season."

Last season the Rockets compiled a 37-45, won-lost record, placing fourth in the NBA's Western Division and gaining a spot in the playoffs. Their win record was 22 more wins over the previous year's 15-67 mark, the greatest improvement of any team in the NBA.

The offensive-minded San Diegans scored 9,456 points over the 82 games to place first in the West and third in the league in that department behind Philadelphia and Baltimore.

In league rebound statistics, the Rockets were second with 5,026 grabs.

Route 94 Contract Awarded To Daley

The contract for improvement of Route 94 was included as the award of several major state highway contracts for work in southern California was announced last week in Sacramento by James A. Moe, State Director of Public Works.

A contract for $2,887,996 was awarded to Daley Corporation of San Diego for constructing 1.9 miles of four-lane freeway on Route 94 near Spring Valley, between 0.3-mile west of Conrad dr. and Avocado blvd. Rough grading will be done for an additional two lanes.

This construction will be on new alignment, Route 94 to the west of this project already is six lanes. To the east of the project it is presently two-lane conventional highway, which will ultimately be constructed to freeway standards.

Interchanges will be constructed at Kenwood dr., Barcelona st., Sweetwater Springs blvd. and Avocado blvd.

Doris Kelltofer Second in Del Mar

One Spring Valley resident brought home a ribbon in Senior Home Economics judging at the Southern California Exposition.

Two Area Men Graduate In Meter Course

Radiological Meter Operators course was completed recently at the County's Civil Defense Center, Gillespie Field, with a Spring Valley and Lemon Grove man among the graduates.

Completing the course were Richard Swanson, 7389 Waite dr., in Lemon Grove, and Walter Sage of 3327 Kenora in Spring Valley.

The monthly training course includes discussion of nuclear weapon phenomenology, radioactive fallout, protection from the effects of fallout, how radiation affects living tissue and instruction in the proper use of radiation detection instruments, Marty said.

In addition to their regular field exercise the class participated to a simulated "Peace Time Incident" involving a transportation vehicle and the special containers presently used for the transportation of radioactive isotopes.

Each graduate is qualified for an assignment to one of the 300 radiological monitoring stations throughout the county, according to William B. Marty, County Administrative Officer for Civil Defense.

Valley Kiwanians Hear Hal Glaeser

Members of the Spring Valley Kiwanis Club, with Paul Yee, president, gathered at Golden Bowl dining room July 2 for their weekly breakfast meeting. It was an "interclub" with several members of the Lakeside club.

A "Surprise" came in a presentation by the Lakeside club of a trophy to the Spring Valley Club for being winner in the recent Kiwanis golf tournament. Also given trophies were the four members of the golf team: Warren Bellows, Ron Svalstad, Ben Moore and Homer Shreve.

Reporting on the recent "Tournament of Roses," rose sale by the S.V. club, project general chairman Dr. Hugh Norris said he was of the opinion the club would net about $480, the money to be used for youth programs in the area.

Verne Watts, program chairman, introduced the speaker of the day; Harold Glaeser, of the San Diego Insurance Underwriters, who spoke on "Life Insurance and Free Enterprise."

Glaeser pointed out in his talk that an insurance company is not necessarily a stock-holding company. He said insurance companies do more than just sell life insurance.

He said during the "depression" when thousands of people were unemployed, the government doled out millions of dollars in relief.

At the same time insurance companies were topping the government in money paid out, he said. Insurance companies have provided wide employment over the years and with 100,000 members of the National Underwriters, most of them have some going projects.

With the prospects of warm weather ahead many San Diegans are thinking seriously about the comforts of air conditioning. The Better Business Bureau has available a booklet "Room Air Conditioners," designed to assist the public in the wise selection and use of room air conditioners.

Music Scheduled

"Music of Nations" is the theme of the 200th Music Festival, sponsored by the House of Ireland of the House of Pacific Relations, Balboa Park, Thursday evening July 24, in Horace Mann Auditorium, 4345 54th st.

Music lovers are cordially invited to attend the unusual evening of entertainment.

Sportswriters-Sportscasters Organize Here

Joe Holmes, publisher of the San Diego Dispatch, has been elected president of the newly formed Sportscaster and Sportswriters Association.

Al Coupee, KOGO sports broadcaster is vice president, and Lyle Bond, Ch. 8 sportscaster is secretary-treasurer. The group plan to reduce the total number of sports press conferences now existing by attracting sports figures to regular weekly meetings, Holmes said.

Bond said it would give sports fans more information than they are now getting. He said members represent an audience of more than two million sports fans.

Holmes said he would announce the regular meeting place and meeting day later in the month.

Already signed up are 35 San Diego members and 5 from Baja, California. They represent 4 tv stations, 11 newspapers, 2 wire services generate that sort of taxation.

While emphasis is on the drinker, the California Constitution Revision Commission which meets in San Francisco later this month, will probably recommend that drinking and voting ages be tied together. This contemplates the eventual dropping of the voting age from 21 to 18. Drinking age would go along down with it.

Meanwhile, Gordon Luce, of San Diego, the State Secretary for Business and Transportation, declared that Gov. Reagan's tougher drinking driving Bill "will give California motorists a greater chance for survival."

Luce said Eddle's bill will unify court procedures throughout the state and will reduce the numerous and expensive court trials of drunk drivers. Until now, courts in California used varying percentages in the past. Pegg'ing it at .10 percent as being the blood-alcohol level at which a driver's ability is presumed to be impaired, the court question very likely will be simply, "Is it above .10 per cent or is it not?"

Luce has directed the California Highway Patrol to "get tough" with the drinking driver and arrests are increasing to about 5,000 a month.

He said that if the blood-alcohol concentration tests of blood, breath or urine show less than .05 per cent, the driver is presumed to be sober. Between .05 per cent and .10 per cent, no presumption is made. Above .10 per cent he is presumed to be under the influence.

But there'll always be those who can beat the system.

A University of Southern California research study on the subject shows that a substantial number of repeat-offender drunken drivers are being tried and punished leniently as first-time offenders.

The study indicated that one out of three offenders are erroneously sentenced with minimum fines when, in fact, they had been convicted for the same offense on several occasions.

The problem lies in the courts not getting information on the past records of drunken drivers in time to guide the dispensation of justice.

For example: When a drunken driver is arrested on Sunday night, he may be held in custody until the next morning, then arraigned. He passes in a line before the judge, who asks how he pleads. The defendant says "guilty" and the case is disposed of with a minimum fine more than likely because there has not been enough time to obtain the driving record from the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Offenders in this category learn quickly that chances are good that they will be processed through the court as first offenders, saving a jail term and substantial money in fines.

The court calendar is usually so jammed that offenders are funneled through in such a rush that the drunken driver offense takes on the coloration of a minor traffic violation instead of the serious crime that it is.

Another problem is that the DMV records are geared to supply information to the state's insurance firms which loads up the information-distributing machinery.

A good program for Luce would be to place a proper charge on these firms for the information that is supplied them — and to let them wait until the cause of justice in the courts is first served.

Incidentally, the USC study was made under a contract with Luce's Transportation Agency.

It should not take long for a no-nonsense enforcement to reduce the drunks on California's roads.

Varleys Coming Home Again Drug Charge Fine $100

It will be a sort of homecoming for the Varleys next month.

District Drops 29 Students For Drug Abuse

Twenty-nine more teenagers were expelled this week from Grossmont District High schools for involvement with marijuana, dangerous drugs or narcotics.

Seven of the total were Mt. Miguel students. None was from Monte Vista. Five of the total were girls.

The expulsions followed a three and half hour closed door session during which trustees reviewed each of the violations.

Violators are eligible for reinstatement after one semester provided they get into no further trouble.

The expulsions bring to 326 the number of students removed from school during the two years of the present policy.

Helix High School with 71 had the greatest total; Mt. Miguel had 44, and Monte Vista, 26.

Lajeunesse Transferred To State Prison

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — William Leo Lajeunesse, 43, formerly of 1817 Dartmoor dr., Lemon Grove, has been transferred from the county honor camp system to the adult authority.

Lajeunesse, a pipe fitter at National Steel, was found guilty of manslaughter in a court trial by Superior Court Judge William P. Mahedy on March 17 of the killing of George Sidney Weir of Lakeside in a Christmas Day shooting.

Mahedy gave Lajeunesse six months in the county jail.

He was referred to the county honor camp system and later to the Crofton House. However he was found to have been drinking at that half-way house institution, a violation of one of the terms of probation.

The transfer to the state prison system is not a sentence but a request for a 90-day diagnostic study.

The probation officer wrote that Lajeunesse remains a potentially dangerous man who is capable of injuring others on impulse.

Says Pesticide Control Necessary

"California's tight controls over the use of pesticides are an absolute necessity for the protection not only of the farmer, but also for the health, safety and welfare of the general public and our total environment," says James M. Moon, San Diego County Agricultural Commissioner.

Moon said that many people are condemning pesticides of all kinds without a complete valuation of the problems that might be involved. Pesticides are necessary to maintain this Nation's high rate of agricultural production and its supply of plentiful, palatable fruits and vegetables.

Pesticides are also used extensively to control insects which are bothersome and even dangerous to man's health. At the same time, we must not tolerate any misuse of these materials.

The utilization of pesticides, and the monitoring of products subjected to them is a strong tripod in California involving continuing consultation and exchange of information between the Division of Agricultural Sciences of the University of California, the State Department of Agriculture, and the Federal Food & Drug Administration.

The Division of Agricultural Sciences tailors general requirements of the U. S. Department of Agriculture into specific advice for California crops. The Agricultural Extension Service of the Division of Agricultural Sciences is represented at the county level by the County Farm Advisors.

The California Department of Agriculture operates in two major directions. It is represented at the county level by the County Agricultural Commissioners.

These officials assume responsibility for the orderly use of pesticides which are potentially hazardous if misused. In addition, the State Department of Agriculture operates several laboratories which are equipped to handle a substantial number of samples obtained from wholesale and retail points of sale for fruits and vegetables.

These samples are submitted to sophisticated assays designed to unearth any instance where the product carries residues above a level determined to be safe. Where excessive residues are found, the offending products cannot be sold.

The Food and Drug Administration conducts product investigations in growing areas with the cooperation and utilization of the know-how of the County Farm Advisors and the County Agricultural Commissioners to determine any potential problems that might develop in the areas covered.

It collects samples of many different raw agricultural commodities at growing points and the packing plants. It examines these either in mobile laboratories or at headquarters laboratories located in San Francisco and Los Angeles.

The results of all these examinations are shared with the California Department of Agriculture. The Food and Drug Administration District has continuous contact with other district offices throughout the United States where products carrying excessive residues may move to interstate destinations.

All of these district offices have equipment capable of determining quickly and accurately just what residues exist on products of uncertain history.

All of the districts are tied together by a teletype system and can communicate very rapidly. Where a stress situation develops, an alert can be established quickly.

In addition to samples collected where there is knowledge of spraying history and of previous land use, FDA nationwide collects completely random samples at destination points for purely objective examinations. The FDA has several programs in progress concerned with pesticide residues.

These programs include a total diet study, as well as research, surveillance, and enforcement. The basic purpose of all of these programs is to insure the safety of the nation's food supply.

Moon stressed that many San Diego County growers are utilizing biological pest control techniques and at times these practices have to be integrated with the use of chemical pesticides to be effective.

San Diego County growers have a very fine safety record and are proud of the high quality agricultural products which they produce.

Pesticide users and regulatory officials are opposed to the arbitrary banning of specific pesticides by legislative actions.

Instead, they advocate the establishment of adequate controls on pesticide usage which would preclude any hazard to human health and which would afford protection and prevent damage to any other elements of our environment. "Pesticides are essential," Moon added, but care in their use and handling is of the utmost importance. It is the responsibility of the user and the regulatory officials to see that the established safeguards are maintained.
